

Network EuroLifestyle

The EuroLifestyle Network has been established as an independent scientific network to represent important and relevant lifestyle subject matters. We share common goals, interests and a strategy. Above all, EuroLifestyle will be a fellowship of shared values and mutual support. The overarching objective of the network on EuroLifestyle, is to identify and reduce health inequalities in Europe leading to improvements in population disability adjusted life years (DALY) and quality adjusted life years (QALY), thus improving the general health status of the European population. The network intends to identify gaps and priorities requiring focus and attention important to this goal. The network aims to have geographic coverage of all current European member states. The included lifestyle areas are currently: Nutrition/Physical Activity Tobacco Use Alcohol Consumption Illegal Drug Use Child Health Gender-specific Health Health of the Elderly Migrant Health Health of Deprived Population Groups Environmental Health
