

EU Platform Regulation

DSA | DMA | P2B Regulation | EMFA | DGA | DA | AI Act | DSM Directive | PAR

The European regulatory package on online platforms fundamentally changes the digital framework. The interlocking of the new regulations such as the Digital Services Act and the Digital Markets Act is highly complicated, especially since the requirements of the P2B-Regulation and, in the future, other EU secondary legislation such as the Data Governance Act, Data Act or Artificial Intelligence Act also deserve the attention of platform providers. The new platform law The guidebook explains the interaction of the EU legal acts in a comprehensible way as well as the practical effects for providers of digital services, the companies concerned, commercial and private users Advantages - comprehensible even for non-legal professionals - puts forward recommendations for action in practice - published at the earliest possible time to give you the opportunity to make necessary adjustments in good time Main topics - Responsibility and liability of intermediaries - Transparency obligations - Content control - Specifics for "systemically relevant" platforms - European Board for Digital Services - Conduct obligations for gatekeepers - Data intermediaries. Potential readers Corporate counsels, companies, lawyers, competition authorities, supervisory authorities, business and consumer associations, research institutions, non-governmental organisations, European institutions.
